die's little sketch, "Pauline Pavlovna," given by Miss Antrania Klerbeck and Lieutenant E. B. Gurey of Fort Douglas, in full costume, when the historic talent of the two stars was seen established beyond doubt. The musical dialogue was given by Miss MacLean accompanied by Miss Gladys McConaughy on the piano and W. H. Cunningham was also heard in an entertaining little skit. The next meeting of the club will be held with Mr. and Mrs. Louis D. Gordon.

A pleasant social event of the week was the bridge tea given in compliment to Mrs. Loscombe of Ontario, Canada, who is the guest for the winter of her daughter, Mrs. T. W. Boyer. Red decorations, holly and Christmas decorations made the room cheerful and attractive, and the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Boyer, who poured at the tea table, assisted by Miss Ethel Mount and Miss Pearl Savage.

Miss Stella Fabian was the complimented guest at one of the delightful afternoon events of the week. Thursday with five tables of bridge in her honor. Violets were used in the room and the tea table, where Mrs. Robert Walker Salisbury and Miss Edna Brown presided. Assisting in the dining room were the Misses Margaret Vaden, Helen MacVie and Marjorie Bidwell.

One of the enjoyable affairs of the past week in the younger society set was the Orpheum party, given Friday evening by Roger Powers, which was followed by a delightful supper at his home. "Linger longer." The holiday spirit prevailed in the decorations of the room and the supper table, and an unique feature of the evening was enjoyed in investigating the contents of stockings which were hung around the great open fireplace for each of the guests present. The party, which was chaperoned by Mrs. O. W. Powers, included the Misses Margaret Walker, Mary and Carey, and Miss Virginia Beatty, Margaret Dunn, Dorothy Bookridge, Aline McMillan, Bryan Houston and Gladys Savage; Hugh and Paul Williams, Frank and DeWitt Knox, Athol Rawlins, John Ferguson, Paul Boice and John Austin.

Fort Douglas was the scene of a successful society event Friday afternoon when Lieutenant and Mrs. J. Duncan Elliott received a large number of their friends of the garrison and from town to meet their guests, Mrs. A. E. Jones of London, N. D., who will be their guest over the holiday season.

The rooms were in gala decorations appropriate to the season, with Christmas bells, greens, holly and poinsettia, the Christmas flower. The regimental orchestra stationed in the hall rendered a fine musical program during the receiving hours, from 5 to 7. Assisting Lieutenant and Mrs. Elliott were Mrs. John M. Palmer, Mrs. Charles L. Sampson, Mrs. Hugh L. Wrathall and Miss Ethel Mount, who served punch.

The members of the Pi Eta Epsilon sorority held a merry meeting Friday afternoon at the A. J. Bottles home in South Sixth East street, when the hostesses of the occasion were Miss Helen Bell and Miss M. McPherson. The rooms were bright in the Christmas colors carried out in holly and greens in profusion. The decorations were the work of the members, and music and were the amusements of the afternoon and souvenirs in candy and bonbons were given each guest.

One of the most attractive spots to be found in the late hours of yesterday afternoon was the post hall at Fort Douglas, which was transformed into a fair land of Christmas decorations and brilliant electric light effects. The feature being an immense Christmas tree. The entertainment was given by the officers of the garrison for the children of the post, numbering between seventy and eighty. No names were spared to make the affair a merry one. The children's unadorned tree was laden with every thing dear to the childish heart, and a real Santa Claus came on hand to distribute the gifts. Refreshments were served and games and music enjoyed.

Among the interesting and beautifully arranged social affairs of the week was the announcement dinner given Friday evening in honor of Miss Russell and Charles W. Stimpson by Miss Colbourne at Rowland hall, when the engagement of the popular young couple was formally announced. Those present were the faculty of the school, of which the bride-elect is a member, and Mrs. Henry C. Stimpson, mother of Mr. Stimpson. The decorations were effectively carried out in pink and white. A mound of pale pink enchantress carnations formed the centerpiece on the table, which was lighted by candles and light shined in soft rose tints. Place cards were in the form of envelopes hand painted in cupids, containing the cards of Miss Russell and Mr. Stimpson, tied with white ribbon.

The successful Christmas tree given in the cause of charity Friday afternoon in Unity hall, could well be called a social event, as the society women and girls who worked to make the affair a success included many of the members of the society set who were all present on the occasion. A handsomely ornamented tree was loaded down with toys, candy and useful articles of wearing apparel and the occasion proved as delightful to those in charge as to the little children who were directly benefited by the affair.

Miss Vinnie Burbridge entertained Wednesday evening in honor of her cousin, Edna Burbridge, who is one of the December brides. Mrs. Charles Newton and Miss Bertha Ruml also entertained in honor of Miss Burbridge Friday afternoon.

The members of the La DeJa club were entertained very pleasantly Wednesday evening with a dinner at the Lion house. The holiday colors in green and red were used in the attractive decorations of the table. From a centerpiece formed by a mound of holly, red ribbon extended to each place card, which were in Christmas effect, the other end being attached to a Christmas gift concealed under the holly. Fourteen of the members of the club were present and dancing was enjoyed in the evening, following the dinner.

The Sunshine club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. E. P. Scoville, 219 East Sixth South street. There was a full attendance of the club members and a very pleasant afternoon was passed and light refreshments were served.

Miss Elsie Taysan entertained the Pema club at the home of her sister, Mrs. F. L. Reinsmair, Thursday evening at a candy pull, after which refreshments were served. The club will meet next Thursday evening with Miss Lillian Chapman.

The semi-monthly meeting of the Social club was held at the residence of A. Gartsdale, 131 South Ninth East street Friday evening. The decorations were in keeping with the holiday season and the prizes were won by Mrs. William Hall and Mrs. George Henderson.

FOR A GIGANTIC CHARITY

Lady Juliet Duff, the tall and handsome daughter of the tall and handsome Marchioness of Ripon, who has taken upon herself a gigantic task of charity—that of raising $500,000 for the Charing Cross hospital of London, which has fallen on evil days.

Lady Juliet is president of the appeal committee, and because of its heavy debts the hospital is practically closed. There is a large mortgage on the institution and the annual payments for interest and sinking fund are such a drain upon the hospital resources and income that the council has been forced to close several wards in order to reduce expenditures.

Charing Cross hospital's record for the alleviation of sickness and suffering extends back seventy-six years, and in order that this record may go on to the fullest degree Lady Juliet Duff has heroically embarked on the tremendous project of personally raising the necessary half million dollars.

Lady Juliet's father was the Earl of Londsdale, who was Lady Ripon's first husband. Her husband is Captain Robert Duff of the Life Guards
